

Copenhagen Denmark

The Danish capital is a winner of MONOCLE's Most Liveable City. The question is how to access that Copenhagen quality of life. The good news for busy business travellers is it's simple. It is incredibly easy to get about this compact capital and deal with local people.

Essentials

- 01 If a Dane says "Meet at 7pm", they mean 7pm, even for social events.
- 02 The Danes tend to say what they mean and cut to the point. If they want to know how much you earn, they'll most likely ask.
- 03 At the merest hint of even the most watery of spring suns, Copenhageners will head outdoors for basking and beer.
- 04 Flying visit? Kastrup airport has excellent meeting facilities or take the Metro and train links to the city from within the terminals.
- 05 Danes aren't big on formality, they much prefer hygge, the typically Danish spirit of social conviviality that eschews divisive conversation.
